REGISTRATION POLICY:

Registration for Qualified Attendees opens May 1
To ensure the highest quality educational and networking event, and because the number of attendee seats at this event are limited, attendance is reserved for potential end-users and customers of the modular building and offsite construction industries, examples of which include developers, architects, engineers, traditional contractors, government agencies, schools and universities. These types of attendees are referred to as “Qualified Attendees.” Qualified Attendees may register at any time until the event is sold out.

Registration for Non-Qualified Attendees opens October 15
For the purposes of this event, companies that build and sell modular buildings and other forms of offsite construction, or that sell or supply building products and services, are not considered end-users or customers, and thus are “Non-Qualified Attendees.” Registration for Non-Qualified attendees opens on October 15. Non-Qualified Attendees may register beginning October 15 unless or until the event is sold out. Companies engaged in modular and offsite construction should consider exhibiting at this event to guarantee attendance. Each exhibit booth includes full registrations for two employees.

Registration for Exhibitors opens May 1
Exhibitors may be any company engaged in modular and offsite construction. Exhibit booths are assigned on a first-come, first served basis. Paid booths will be given placement priority. Unpaid booths may be released at any time without notice. Each exhibit booth includes full registrations for two employees.

No refunds will be issued. However, substitutions are permitted.
